Kari Uhlman lives in California. She is a retired civil servant and a facilitator for Mending the Soul. Her major was General Design. Her neighbor introduced her to art as a child. She practices creativity as a form of worship. In other words, it's about surrendering everything to Jesus. It is her intention to convey courage to deal with feelings we prefer to ignore. When you view her pieces, you will immediately feel a sense of peace and calm. Among her acrylic paintings are stunning, vibrant, and welcoming scenes. All creation bears the hand of God, displaying His majesty.
